More Changes Made In Test Ban Agreement

Western Diplomats Expect Initialing Of Treaty Today

MOSCOW (AP) — British and American experts were called to the Soviet Foreign Office again today to make last-minute revisions in the draft of a nuclear test ban treaty.

There continued to be solid optimism, however, that the treaty banning testing in the air, in outer space and under water would be initiated this afternoon by representatives of the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

Meeting Came As Surprise
The meeting at the Foreign Office this morning came as a surprise since the draft was reported to be final Wednesday.

There were strong reports that Premier Khrushchev wanted the treaty to be initiated in the Kremlin in his presence. This would give him an opportunity once again to stress how important he feels it is to get a supplemental agreement quickly on an East-West nonaggression pact.

Cautious Western negotiators could not rule out the possibility of more Soviet requests for revisions and appendages.

The greatest appendage proposed by the Soviet Union was for a nonaggression pact between the North Atlantic Alliance and the Communist states of the Warsaw Pact.

Meet With Gromyko
The chief Western negotiators, U.S. Undersecretary of State Averell Harriman and British Science Minister Lord Hailsham, talked in great detail Wednesday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko about the nonaggression pact. They sought to prevent this issue from delaying the initialing of the test ban agreement.

Both Harriman and Lord Hailsham came to Moscow with authority to negotiate only the test ban and not to go further than a general discussion of a nonaggression pact, which would vitally concern the other 13 NATO Allies.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in a letter to heads of African nations released Wednesday, said the partial test ban could result in a "radical turn toward a better international climate."

He added that a nonaggression

Bliss Co. Sales, Earnings Are Up First Six Months

The E. W. Bliss Company today reported net income of $1,655,598 for the six months ended June 30, on sales of $62,764,537.

Net was equal to 60 cents per share of common stock after pre-compare to 54 cents in the first half of 1962. Net income in the 1962 first-half was $1,534,954 on sales of $61,773,152.

The Bliss board of directors declared a regular quarterly dividend on the common stock of 15 cents per share payable Aug. 30.

Carl E. Anderson, Bliss president, said that the order backlog at June 30 was $59,000,000 compared to $61,000,000 at March 31, 1963, and $58,000,000 at Dec. 31, 1962. "Opportunities for new business continue good," he added.

The new Bliss press plant in Netanya, Israel, is under construction and scheduled to begin operations on Jan. 1. The plant will receive 23 carloads of production machinery from Bliss domestic plants.

Communist Failure

Nixon Finds E. Berliners Hold Regime In Contempt

BERLIN (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon made an unheralded return visit to East Berlin Wednesday night and found that "communism is a complete failure in East Berlin."

He said he found the East Berliners even more anti-communist than the Poles and the Hungarians.

Heckled By Communists

Heckled by Communists and trailed by a horde of security agents on his scheduled visit earlier in the day, Nixon decided to see "what life is really like in East Berlin."

Walking dimly lit streets, Nixon encountered East Berliners who whispered "I'm no Communist. Mr. Nixon" and "our only hope lies in you Americans," then disappeared in shadows.

Youths in a night club cheered when Nixon told them, "I've been in Budapest and I only hope you people can some day get at least the small amount of freedom that the Hungarians have."

Nixon, visibly moved by the East Berliners' reaction, told The Associated Press in an exclusive account of his impressions:

"It was an unforgettable experience because after my first visit I wondered if the East German people might lack the will to resist that the Polish people and the Hungarian people have demonstrated on my visits to Warsaw and Budapest."

"But I found first-hand that the German people are, if anything, even more outspoken in their allegiance to the West and in their complete contempt for and opposition to the Communist regime than the Poles and Hungarians."

Nixon spent two hours on his second trip behind the Red wall, accompanied by his wife, Pat; an official from the U.S. diplomatic mission in West Berlin; Jack Brown, a traveling companion of the Nixons from California, and an AP correspondent.

Kissed Nixon's Hand

On a street corner a woman in her 70s kissed Nixon's hand, said "pray for us" and vanished into the night.

Just then a green car screeched to a stop nearby. In it were two East German security agents.

"They've finally gotten the word we've hit town," Nixon said, starting toward the car. "I think the least we can do is tell them good night."

An American escort advised against it, and the Nixon party returned to West Berlin by taxi.

In the night club, Nixon played the Missouri Waltz on the piano and told the customers, "This is to a former political opponent." The crowd laughed, apparently understanding the reference to former President Harry S. Truman.

Asked For Autograph

One after another, the patrons went to Nixon's table to shake his hand and ask for his autograph.

"Don't you ever forget that we're not all Red here," said one. "We worry at times that we've been forgotten," said another.

"Don't worry, we'll never forget you," Nixon told him.

Reflecting, he said, "I know it's not me, but just the mere fact that an American takes an interest in their lives."

"These people are with us," Nixon commented after his unscheduled visit.

"There is less freedom of speech and less opportunity to speak out in East Berlin than in any city in the world," he said after his 3½-hour scheduled visit earlier in the day.

During the trip he shook hands with mostly silent German onlookers while Communist security agents and newsmen tried to embroil him in arguments about racial strife in the United States.

He told them at one point: "Come on, boys. Let's get this thing on a higher level. I've argued with some of the best of them and you're just not making it."

Some people responded to Nixon and one middle-aged man shouted in English: "God bless us all."

Others scurried away when Nixon tried to talk to them.

"They are evidently afraid," Nixon said. "They are even afraid to say, 'It's a warm day.'"

Fair Employment Bill

Due for House Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—A controversial fair employment practices bill apparently is going to be the first civil rights measure to be acted on in the House this session.

Plans are being made to bring it to the floor before the Aug. 28 mass demonstration in Washington called by Negro civil rights leaders.

The chances are the administration's omnibus civil rights bill will still be making slow progress through committees then and congressional leaders would like to be able to show the demonstrators something more substantial in the way of action.

LISBON KANGAROO KOURT PADDY WAGON—"Officer" Bill Jones (driving) and his fearless "deputies," Dick Kuhns (top) and Don Carmen keep a constant vigil on Lisbon village streets for male residents who would dare to be seen in public un-bewhiskered without a shaving permit. All offenders are rounded up and put in the stockade until trial in Kangaroo Court with Judge Felix Butch (a former justice of the peace) presiding. The proceedings are part of the Morgan's Raid Centennial Celebration which started in Lisbon Wednesday and will continue through Saturday.

Second Parade Set Tonight

Lisbon Festival Gets Under Way

LISBON — An estimated 1,500 persons lined village streets for about three blocks last evening and watched the first of three parades to be held in Lisbon in observing Morgan's Raid centennial.

The Lions Club-sponsored parade, opening the street fair, included the Beaver Local and Lisbon High School bands, the Hanover baton twirlers, and six fire department units along with antique cars.

A historical parade is scheduled for this evening at 7 and an old time parade is set for Saturday at 6 p.m., followed by grand costume ball in the Floral Hall at the County Fairgrounds beginning at 10 p.m.

A youth program was held this afternoon and a "Kangaroo Kourt" is planned at 6 p.m., followed by the parade.

The four-day celebration will be climaxed by the re-enactment of Morgan's Raid surrender between West Point and Gavers Sunday afternoon.

The parade tonight will move from the McKinley School promptly at 7, according to Marshal Jerry Sanders. On Saturday it will move at 6 p.m.

Persons in "old time" dress will march at the rear of the parade and when they reach the reviewing stand on The Square the judging will take place.

At least 30 units will participate in the parades, according to Sanders.

The Cadets of VFW Post 451, Lorain, a junior rifle and drill team, will be one of the featured groups.

Remaining Schedule
The festival schedule for tomorrow and Saturday is:

Firms Agree to Delay Posting Revised Rules

Carriers Postpone Imposing Work Changes for Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's railroads agreed today to put off for 30 days the posting of new manpower-trimming work rules. This averts a threatened nationwide strike next Tuesday.

Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Association of American Railroads, announced the decision at a House Commerce Committee meeting.

Loomis said the 195 carriers involved in the explosive work rules dispute would not impose the changes until 12:01 a.m. Aug. 29.

Loomis said the railroads were taking this step in order to cooperate with Congress which is considering President Kennedy's plan to turn the 4-year-old work rules controversy over to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The chairman of the House and Senate Commerce committees had requested the delay Wednesday, saying Congress didn't have time to act by Monday evening.

When the request was made, Loomis' immediate response was to say the railroads would be forced to continue "unnecessary payments for work not needed or not performed."

Termed "Intolerable"
Loomis said such expenditures by the railroad industry are "intolerable under present conditions."

J. E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference, told a reporter industry officials will confer this morning on their answer to the postponement request.

Wolfe said the reply will be framed before he and Loomis take the witness stand for the second day of hearings before the House Commerce Committee.

Its chairman, Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., and Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., acting chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, said Congress does not have time to act on the Kennedy plan before the work rules-strike deadline.

Pastore warned that several senators already have prepared resolutions to force a 30-day standstill in the dispute.

"But it would be most unfortunate for Congress to have to

Program Arranged For Tech School Graduating Class

Joseph Wendel, instructor at the Salem School of Technology and chairman of the commencement program, today announced plans for the exercises Aug. 16 when 65 students will be awarded diplomas.

The class is the first to complete its work at the institution. Harry Davis, state director of technical education, will hand diplomas to the 41 mechanical engineering and 24 electrical engineering majors. Part of the graduates were in the three-year program, under which SST initially started, and others were under the present two-year plan.

Rev. Kevin Coleman, assistant pastor of St. Paul's Catholic Church, will present the invocation and benediction. Paul E. Smith, superintendent of Salem schools, will give the welcome, followed by the introduction of the guest speaker by SST director Holland W. Cameron.

The commencement address will be delivered by Congressman Wayne L. Hays.

Wendel says the program at the Salem Junior High School auditorium will begin at 8 p.m. and is expected to last about an hour and a half. The public is invited to attend.

Salem-Built Machine Exhibited At Lisbon

Old Shingle Mill Operational

SHINGLE SHAPER — An antique shingle mill, made in Salem by the now extinct Buckeye Engine Works, is an attraction at the Lisbon celebration this week, marking the penetration of General Morgan into Columbiana County in the Civil War. The mill is pictured here in operation on the farm of John Sell who, with his brother, Joe, is co-owner. John Sell's daughter, Susan, a United Local senior, shows one of the excellent shingles.

By GLENN SCHOTTEN

LISBON—A century-old Salem-made wooden shingle mill, which has had a wandering existence in this area, is noisily turning out roof slabs here as its contribution to the old-time celebration on the anniversary of Morgan's Raid.

It's companions are two huffing, traction steam engines, not nearly as mature as the machine they power but equally good at adding to the general din of things.

THE SHINGLE MILL was snatched from a rusty grave in an East Rochester briar patch by the Sell brothers, John of Guilford Lake and George (Joe) of RD 4, Lisbon. It was manufactured by Sharp, Davis and Bonsall, founders over 100 years ago of the Buckeye Engine Works in Salem. Buckeye was the predecessor of the E. W. Bliss Co.

Plausibly, General Morgan and his equestrian-soldiers could have charged past homes in the Salineville and West Point areas whose roofs were made of shingles carved by the old machine which is now on display at the Farm Bureau Cooperative on S. Market St.

Jim Sharples of near Guilford Lake was an earlier owner of the rustic machine and was the last to actually saw shingles with it before it became the property of an East Rochester farmer, Ralph Pike.

John Sell, who with his brother completely overhauled and repainted the shingle maker, marvels at the excellent engineering of the machine, which is 15 feet long, four feet wide and six feet high. "The man who figured this out was certainly no 'dumbbell'," John declares.

LOGS FOR THE shingles are cut into approximate foot and a half length. The chunks are inserted between gripping teeth that hold the wood steady as the machinery forces it against the three-foot circular saw blade. The slabs come out, tapering from a four-inch thickness at one end to about 1-16th inch on the other.

Attached to the saw section is a planing blade, housed in a box, that puts an even edge on the shingle.

In Lisbon two county steam engine fans have shipped their machines to the Farm Bureau to operate the Sell shingle maker. Earl Hamilton of Gavers, who with John Sell is a director of the Tri-State Steam Engine Historical Association, brought in his 15-45 horsepower Case traction engine, 1912 vintage. And Harold Rogers of Summitville is providing power for the shingle mill with his 21-75 horsepower Baker engine.

The shingle machine recalls a fascinating and integral segment of Quaker history since it was constructed in an era of early boomtime Salem.

THE BUCKEYE Engine Works which made the machine, was founded in 1851 by four Salem men: Simeon and Joel Sharp, great-uncle and grandfather, respectively, of Judge Joel H. Sharp, Milton Davis; and Joel S. Bonsall.

The Sharps were two of four brothers, sons of Joel Sharp Sr., who located early in the 19th century in Salem. Natural mechanics, the brothers brought Salem attention round the world as an engine-building center.

In 1842 Thomas Sharp opened a shop for building steam engines and turned out the first engine that year. Thomas was joined shortly by Simeon and Clayton and in 1848, Joel returned from Cleveland to enter the company.

Thomas Sharp in 1851 branched off from the firm and opened a shop on W. Main St. that poured out engines until a fire destroyed his business in 1894. The year Thomas started in business for himself saw the founding of The Buckeye Engine Works by the two Sharps, Davis and Bonsall.

The new firm quickly achieved fame by improving on early steam engines. Fire razed the plant in the spring of 1865 but it was rebuilt the next year. One by one, death overtook the original founders. Joel Sharp died in 1898 and Bonsall in 1902.

GAS ENGINES started coming into the picture, pushing the steam engine into the hinterland of memory. By 1905 a new model gas engine appeared and the age of the steam engine declined.

The Buckeye Engine Works consequently was sold to Edwin S. Griffiths of Cleveland who later sold it to The Bliss Co., with headquarters in Brooklyn, N.Y. Bliss operated the plant as a machine shop during the first World War, later dismantling it. It resumed operations early in 1926.

Today, Bliss' Heavy Equipment Division plant here is one of Salem's major industries.

LEAVES BOND IN LISBON
LISBON — Zyamunt Blaszcak of Conshohocken, Pa., forfeited a $10 bond Wednesday in Mayor Dean Stockman's court on charges of intoxication and disturbing the peace.

Blaszcak was placed in jail at 6:15 a.m. after he was removed from a Pittsburgh-Detroit bus at the request of the bus driver. He was allowed to catch the afternoon bus en route to Detroit after he posted the bond, police said.

CLEVELAND (AP). — Efforts to revive 7-month-old Coleen Taylor after she was found with a plastic dry cleaning bag on her face were futile Wednesday. Police said the infant apparently worked loose from her crib clung to her face.

School Nurse Gives Report at Leetonia

LEETONIA — Mrs. Sybil Degnan, Leetonia Exempted School District nurse, reports she made 367 visits to schools the past school year plus 237 home visits or those in behalf of school children.

Preschool immunizations included 35 vaccinations for smallpox, 16 for polio and 53 P.D.T.

The nurse held 30 principal conferences, 162 teachers conferences, 169 parent conferences, 130 student conferences and two physician conferences last school year.

A total of 892 vision tests were made with 85 re-tested. Forty students were referred to specialists and 25 defects were corrected.

The nurse gave 271 hearing tests with 64 re-tested. Seven referrals were made and four defects were corrected or treated.

Hear tests were made of 48 adults and 418 children and Mantoux tests of three adults and 138 children. Mrs. Degnan traveled 1,287 miles in the course of her year's work.

Talks to classes ranging from second grade to high school age included such topics as teeth and care, food and diet, grooming, prenatal care, first aid and menstruation. By far the largest number of classroom speeches were on dental care.

APPLICATIONS MUST be filed by Aug. 13 by persons intending to take the U.S. Civil Service Commission examination in Youngstown for the Leetonia postmaster ship.

Salary for the post is $6,285 per year. Information may be obtained at the post office.

James Stewart has been acting postmaster since October.

Quota Club Aids In Hearing Clinic At Fair Aug. 22-26

Speech and hearing therapists in Columbiana County and staff of the general health district were among those attending a planning session at Timberlakes Tuesday to complete arrangements for the Ohio Health Department's health hearing cruiser to be at the County Fair Aug. 22-26.

Attending the meeting were Miss May Vetterle of the Youngstown Speech & Hearing Center; William Grimm, chief, Hearing & Vision Conservation Unit, Ohio Department of Health; William Stringer, hearing and vision consultant, Ohio Department of Health of Northeast District; Mrs. Violet Peterson, Columbiana County staff nurse; Mrs. Lynn Woods, speech and hearing therapist in Salem Public Schools; Mrs. Winifred Byers, President of Salem Quota Club; Miss Lillian R. Schroeder, chairman of service committee of Salem Quota Club, and Mrs. Augusta Ibele, nurse and committee member of Quota Club of Salem. Quota Club of Salem will provide hostesses and registrars at the Cruiser. Aid to the hard-of-hearing and speech-handicapped persons is one of the community services of Quota.

Salem members working on this special project with Miss Lillian Schroeder are Mrs. Dorothy Crook and Mrs. Augusta Ibele.

Quakery Will Not Cure U.S.

America's No. 1 economic problem, it must be conceded, is the continuing drain on its gold reserves.

In 12 of the last 13 years, we have been able to balance our international income and outgo only by dipping into the gold that backs up our dollar.

And what has this done to the dollar? Nothing that inspires any exuberant confidence in it.

And what has the President of the United States done to reverse the trend and shore up the drain on our dwindling reserves?

He has prescribed a series of treatments that fails fully to take into account the diagnosis, with which he is quite familiar.

The latest prescription is his proposal to place a 15 per cent tax on investments in foreign securities.

THIS NOT ONLY has had the effect of dramatizing the depth of the dollar's distress but it contradicts President Kennedy's own statement of a week earlier, when he said "... this nation will continue to adhere to its historic advocacy of freer trade and capital movements."

This sort of maneuver will not fool foreigners, who recognize flags of distress when they see them. When a bank is in trouble and limits withdrawals, what happens to the confidence of the depositor? Similarly, what will happen to the confidence of a German or an Englishman who has made investments in the U.S.?

The imbalance of our international economic posture goes much deeper than the methods prescribed for its cure.

A major factor in the chronic payments deficit is the government's own huge spending abroad. Much of this goes for foreign aid, which has been under almost constant criticism and, at best, has been of doubtful value in relation to the billions invested. Yet, the President suggests no important cutbacks in these outlays.

MOST OF THE rest of America's vast expenditures abroad are earmarked to maintain our far-flung military establishment, and the President has promised that this will be trimmed to some slight degree over the next few years.

But it is quite obvious that this outlay cut be reduced much faster and deeper if our allies, who with our help have been placed in a position to do so, would assume their fair share of the burden of the Free World's defenses. And if they are as interested in their independence as we are led to believe, we are confident they would pick up their share of the tab if we would quit grabbing for it ourselves.

Still another reason for the payments deficit has been the persistent policy of keeping money plentiful and cheap, both in good and bad times. This has encouraged relatively more investments abroad, where higher interest rates are available.

FEDERAL RESERVE did raise the discount rate last week, which may mean that short-term interest rates may move slightly higher.

The proposed investment tax also would force foreigners to offer higher long-term rates if they want to borrow in the American market. But the President has emphasized that there's to be no such interest rate rise for domestic borrowers.

In other words, we are going to tighten money for foreigners while pursuing the easy money policy at home.

Even with all their transparent weaknesses, the government's moves might conceivably accomplish something if we adopted a more responsible fiscal and monetary policy at home.

Quakery will not solve our money illness. It will take some basic medicine.

All the Wheat You Can Eat

Whether you know a beef steer from a race horse, you have a stake in the outcome of a scheme hatching in the federal bureaucracy.

The scheme would take money from the U.S. Treasury to pay subsidies to farmers converting cropland to grazing land for beef cattle. It would be one more way to cut down acreage now being farmed to produce crops no one needs.

The beef cattle alternative, it is explained by backers of the scheme, would be the second bird one stone would kill. Besides taking farm acreage out of crop production, it would add to the total amount of beef available for a growing population.

The nation is going to need 99.5 million head of beef cattle by 1970 to assure ample beef supplies, according to the bureaucratic explanation. Therefore, the federal government should make itself responsible for the increase.

HOW PREPOSTEROUS can the bureaucratic mind be? The country has a wheat and corn surplus because the great, good federal government whooped up production.

Americans have all the wheat they can eat, plus. Wheat can't be given away and must be paid for with public money to keep the market from collapsing.

This same bureaucratic mind told the steel industry how much more capacity it should add or else—the same mind now telling private enterprise how many more jobs there should be, while milking the enterprise system with both bureaucratic hands to keep the public pail full—and nuts to private investment.

CATTLEMEN are reported to be fighting this newest madness, but that is slight comfort.

Sooner or later, some shrewd cattlemen will figure out how to do what commercial wheat growers in the Wheat Belt have been doing, which amounts to taking out a license to steal from the U.S. Treasury.

When that happens, watch out! We'll be up to our armpits in beef and Washington will be subsidizing the price.

The Message: Safety

Columbiana County's traffic toll for the year stands at 15, only three less than the 18 fatalities which marred the county's safety record a year ago at this time. However, the increasing frequency of fatal automobile collisions on area highways in recent weeks foreshadows a more tragic picture unless ALL motorists show more concern over the all-important six-letter word, SAFETY.

Lisbon's Observance

Salemites, their memories still recalling the pleasures of the city's sesquicentennial seven years ago, are naturally attracted to the Morgan's Raid centennial observance in neighboring Lisbon this week.

With "Brothers of the Brush" and the "Bonnet Sisters" promenading, the "Kangaroo Court" in session and historic moments of the past exhibited throughout the county seat, the atmosphere parallels that wonderful era of community friendliness that was so much in evidence when Salem marked its 150th birthday.

Nostalgia, no doubt, but it helps us to appreciate the past.

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: Why don't you think of the difference between mechanization and automation like this? —

That mechanization expanded the productive things a human being could do and made him more efficient, but automation only expanded the things a machine could do.

As men became more productive, the standard of living rose by leaps and bounds because there is no point of satiety among men. Their needs are limitless. The more they had, the more they wanted.

Machines have no needs. They want nothing.

The thing that caused mechanization to stimulate the world's highest standard of living is absent in automation. What is the "thing"?

It was old Henry Ford's realization at the outset of the mass production which mechanization made possible that mass production would be a mockery if people couldn't buy it.

The real genius of the man who showed the world how to mass-produce came to light when he showed it how to mass-consume by paying his employees $5 a day at a time when men were working for not much more than $5 a week.

YOU CAN'T pay a machine. That's what makes it efficient. When you shut it off, after you have amortized it for tax purposes, it sits there. It costs nothing, wears nothing and needs no diversion.

It is utterly efficient, in the sense it makes money when it works and costs nothing when it isn't working. That's what some people thought the machine would do when it made mass production possible. They started out with the idea in English factories and in this country that machine operators should be paid as little as possible; that is, until Henry Ford introduced the $5 wage.

You might say of our production system today that we are going to make it more efficient if it kills us. We are getting ready or one of those situations where people laugh about where the operation was a success but the patient died.

EVERYBODY talks about the wonderful things automation can do and nobody talks about people, except to ask what's to become of people with no way to earn a living.

The only time ordinary people get mentioned any more is when deep thinkers make speeches to tell how unsuitable ordinary people have become for the purpose.

As for the United States, where the streets once were paved with gold, no one can afford to live here any more unless he's on an expense account.

Everybody knows this is the centennial of Henry Ford's birth in 1863. They're having quite a celebration, with one thing and another.

I wish someone would take time to point out that Henry Ford's idea was to give buying power to more people by making men more efficient, whereas what we're doing is to make machines more efficient so we won't need so many pesky people hanging around all the time.

Your Aunt Effie sends her regards, as always.

Politics Impairs Usefulness of Governors' Confab

By DAVID LAWRENCE

When the governors of all the states get together for consultation at their annual conference, the system of state governments should benefit, and the citizens, too, but the conclave at Miami this week has been given a political emphasis which tends to impair the usefulness of the institution.

David Lawrence
Basically, no governor has any authority over the citizens of any other state or their elected officials. Originally the governors recognized that they couldn't legislate or even adopt resolutions which would be binding on one another. Customarily, therefore, the objective in any resolution adopted has been to proclaim laudable principles. These have always been couched in the broadest terms to avoid friction among the governors.

The governors this week found it necessary to abolish their resolutions committee altogether. This was one way to avoid a "fill-buster" and a provocative debate. The civil rights issue, which intrudes everywhere, even into private boarding houses, pushed its way into the Conference of Governors and threatened to disrupt the proceedings.

Certainly the governors aren't supposed to influence one another on a program of civil rights, as the conference is composed of coordinate state executives and is not a legislative body. Unfortunately, the passion of the political animal is hard to suppress or even subdue.

IF THERE'S a chance to put political opponents in another party in an embarrassing position or to gain some advantage that might be of political value to factions in one's own party in the next campaign the temptation is strong to ignore such spectacular subjects as the administrative side of government and to play for the headlines.

Yet all the governors have serious and far-reaching problems on their hands. The issues in the 50 states are not always the same, but there are common problems — perplexities in taxation and education, as well as in the handling of budgets and debt.

These are sufficiently pressing for the citizens to be willing to pick up the expense tab of a governor at Miami or Atlantic City or any other resort where some degree of calmness or coolness may be expected to prevail.

Clearly, the experience of one governor with a difficult problem can be helpful to another governor. An exchange of views, formally or informally, can assist the cause of good government in America.

But the image presented in the press by the governors' conference is that of a gabfest in which the political currents of the hour dominate. Instead of 49 governors consulting with one another—one happens to be absent from the conference this year—the impression is given of a group of politicians playing the usual game. Somehow the assumption is that he who makes headlines becomes a more notable figure back home but in these days when politics supersedes everything—including fidelity to the public interest—the strategy seems to be to get the kind of publicity that will appeal to certain voter groups engaged in a dramatic controversy in national affairs.

As for the difficult and challenging issues of state government, they are given only cursory attention.

THE MANEUVERS of politics are, of course, the same in the national government, too, so the governors perhaps feel they are merely following the lead of the top men in Washington.

Abraham Lincoln's adage that you can fool all of the people some of the time and some of the people all of the time, but not all of the people all of the time, affords some hope, but is hardly a satisfactory answer to the dilemma.

In the meantime, an indifferent electorate tolerates the wasteful practices of politics and doesn't insist on efficiency and fairness in the handling of government affairs, at the least of which is financial.

State governments today are spending more, taxing more and wasting more money than at any other time in American history. By achieving some progress and reforms in these fields alone, the governors' conference at Miami could have served a constructive purpose.

"You Suppose the Boys on the Hill Will Jump for Joy?"

Latin Pressure From Peking

By VICTOR RIESEL

PANAMA CITY
There are few here who pay much attention to the Chinese either in the big cities or in the little villages of the rough terrain in the interior stretching 300 miles up to Costa Rica.

There are no "China towns." The Chinese, survivors of the coolie labor brought in decades ago to dig the Canal, have dispersed, assimilated and speak Spanish and English but no Cantonese.

There are only eight to ten thousands yet they are being pressured by the one force, which watches them carefully, in a trans-oceanic conflict which could turn Latin America into a vast Laos or Viet Nam.

This pressure comes from far off Peking, via Macao and Hong Kong. The pressure is still from a distance because there are comparatively few Chinese Communist agents trained for Latin American operations.

Intelligence sources report there are but 370 of these special Chinese mainland Communists in all of Central, South and Caribbean America—outside of Cuba. But thousands more are now being trained in six special colleges in Peking.

THERE IS only a handful in this land of the big Canal. They put the "muscle" directly on the Latin Chinese, while the "heat" comes from the Orient in the form of threats to the families of Chinese back home.

This is the beginning of Peking's drive to develop the Latin Chinese into a continental base for one of the most daring operations since Genghis Kha marched westward.

What the Peking apparatus is doing here, it is duplicating on a larger scale among the million other Chinese, many of them merchants, who live below the United States border.

The immediate Peking objective is to blackmail them into providing funds for the infiltration of Latin America—funds for the creation and expansion of a network which would have several objectives.

The Peking Communist want the good will of the Latin people as the beginning of a trade relationship which would bring in commune-produced slave labor goods to replace goods from the non-Communist bloc.

AT THE SAME TIME the Peking Communists will be wooing the Latin American Communist parties away from the Soviet bloc. This means shifting them from Khrushchevism to Maoism. In turn, this would mean the flaring of Communist revolutionary jungle tactics such as those we are combating in the Orient on the Vietnamese and Laotian fronts.

In most of Latin America this would not be difficult if Maoism won in its competition with the Russians. It's not generally realized back home, but only a few hours' drive even from such big cities as this one, or just a few minutes away right in the Canal Zone area itself, are dense jungles with slithering poisonous snakes, boa constrictors, jaguar, black panther and other man-eating "cats."

For experienced jungle fighters the lush tangle would make hide-outs equaling those in Viet Nam. Even in the Republic of Panama there are areas where no roads ever have been cut and Indians live as their ancestors did in the loin-cloth primitiveness of a thousand years ago.

The Peking Communists have made real progress in this many-fronted campaign. The Maoists have won many friends among the Latin Communists.

During the 1960 Moscow conference of 81 Communist parties from across the world the delegations from the Colombian, Chilean, Argentinian, Uruguayan and Venezuelan parties voted with the Chinese against the Russians on many policy issues. Since then the Maoists have gained many friends inside the Mexican Communist party.

Paralleling these moves is the wooing of the non-Communist Latin world. This is being pitched at the Americas through the China-Latin American Friendship Association.

This is run in Peking by one of Mao's closest lieutenants, Ch'u Tu-nan. It has 22 subsidiaries operating from the Rio Grande to the lower Argentine.

It has sent acrobats and artists, youth and women's groups, unionists and bankers from Red China to Latin America. In turn, it has invited exchange cultural delegations, trade groups, government officials, etc., from Latin America,

SO SUCCESSFUL is this Operation Exchange that only El Salvador, Nicaragua and the Dominican Republic have not been officially and unofficially represented in Peking.

Peking's prestige in Communist and non-Communist circles is growing south of the border. Young Latin-Communists now being trained in Cuba for violence, sabotage, use of explosives, raids on banks and other Stalin-era revolutionary tactics, have been especially attracted to the Peking Communist party.

These youths want action for action's sake. The Chinese Communists are willing to supply the logistics and, from the revolutionary point of view, the logic too. And it's all aimed at the United States. Peking is closer than you think.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Here it is late in July and my wife is still walking around with a long face because I didn't remember her on Mother's Day.

Before you call me a heel I want to tell you she is not a mother. I don't hold that against her because I know she wanted a family, just as I did. Unfortunately, the Lord didn't see fit to bless us.

In other years (11 to be exact) I always sent her a little Mother's Day gift and signed the card, "With Love to Mommy from Nipper." — he was our Golden Retriever. But Nipper died last January so I didn't send her a gift this Mother's Day.

She says I should have sent a gift from me. But I say it would have made no sense at all since she is not MY mother. Will you please settle this? She's crying again. Thank you.—NAGGED AT.

Dear At: She wasn't Nipper's mother either, was she? If you were goofy enough to send your wife a Mother's Day gift in the dog's name you should have sent a gift in your name after the dog died. You both sound like children, but next year do it.

Miss Wonderful

Dear Ann: I'm engaged to marry a wonderful guy. Dan and I plan to be married a year from now. The problem is we come from such different backgrounds that I wonder if it's possible to overcome the high hurdles.

Dan was graduated from an ordinary public high school and then had two years at a mediocre Midwest college. I went to a fine finishing school and was graduated from one of the best Eastern girls' schools in America. I also have traveled abroad and Dan never has been out of the sticks.

I'm sure Dan feels inferior to me but he refuses to admit it. Whenever we get into an argument I say things that perhaps I shouldn't say but all of them are true.

A close friend of mine who recently married told me that all engaged people argue and that we will settle our differences AFTER marriage. What do you think? — MISS QUESTION MARK.

Dear Miss Mark: You say you're engaged to marry "a wonderful guy" but your letter spells out clearly how much more wonderful you think YOU are.

Aside from the fact that you're a girl and he's a boy, I see nothing to recommend this relationship. It's incredible to me that you two could even be considering marriage.

Unkindest Cut

Dear Ann: You always seem to have the right answer. Can you supply one for us?

We have two adopted children. They are both under 2 years of age. How often have we heard people say to us, "Adopted children are lovely but it's not like having your own."

"Reaction kinetics" is the name of the branch of science which deals with determining and interpreting the rates of chemical change. Rates have been measured for the disintegration of ordinary uranium, only half of which will decompose in five billion years, as well as for the rate of protein coagulation which takes place when you boil an egg.

So They Say

If we can send a man to the moon, we can do something about the distress of people left to orbit helplessly in the vacuum of despair.

—William Anderson, tentative director of proposed domestic peace corps.

They are entitled to their opinions but MUST they say such things in front of the children? The little ones are too young to understand now, but what happens when they are older?

Perhaps we are too emotionally involved to see a reply which is obvious to an outsider. Can you help? — WITHOUT WORDS.

Dear Without: You don't need an answer, you need new friends. Anyone who would make such a cutting remark to adoptive parents is hardly worth your time.

Confidentially
TO IS IT WORTH IT?: Of course it is. Your emotional investment in this situation is tremendous. Where did you get the idea that marriage was going to be all sugar and spice and everything nice?

Attend Summer Music Event 1,500 Attend Deming Plant Annual Picnic

Four young people from the Salem area are studying four different instruments at the Allegheny Music Festival, a five-week camp and concert institution being held on the campus of Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa.

They are (as pictured) Ricky Howenstine, pianist and clarinet; Jeanne Elser, flute; and (standing) Marian Lazear, trumpet, and Candy Horning, string bass. The Festival gives them an opportunity to take private lessons twice weekly, to undertake theoretical studies in music, and to perform solos and in ensembles.

Candy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Horning of Salem, has studied string bass three years with Richard Howenstine of Salem. Her Festival teacher is Oliver Chamberlain, director of music at Lawrence Academy, Groton, Mass.

Marian's camp teacher is Mr. Essotto Pelligrini of the Youngstown Orchestra, with whom she has studied in Youngstown for the past two years. Marian is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lazear of Columbiana.

Ricky is not only studying piano with Marcelene Hawk, who comes to the Festival from the famous Cleveland Settlement House Music School, but also taking oboe with Arthur Krilov of New York. Ricky is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Howenstine and has studied piano for six years at Mt. Union College.

Jeanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Elser of North Lima, is studying flute with Jean-Louis Kashy, the principal flutist of the Oklahoma City Symphony. She has studied flute for two years.

Although there is no music written for the combination of piano, flute, string bass, and trombone, the "Salem quartet" is learning the art of music together when they play in the Festival orchestra, and will bring back home the skills implanted in them by professional musicians and teachers.

The students will participate in a concert at the college Sunday.

Games and contests were enjoyed with prizes won by Cheryl Sunderman, Sheila M. Stamp, Austin Randolph, Robyn Wike, Raymond Sunderman, David Bowman, Dennis Scullion, Bob Shoe, Dale Shasteen, Dick Wilt, Charles Esterly, Janie Randolph, Cindy Abrams, Karen Lease, Sheila Wherry, Danny Cake, Walter Hendricks, Cheryl Hively, Brenda Lottman, Jim Williams, Diane Tetlow, Tonia Edds, Mrs. Dale Cook.

Mrs. Linda Wylie, Mrs. Raymond Sunderman, Mrs. Bertha Eagleton, Charles Cushman, Fred Brudery, Peggy Huber, Kaye Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wike, Mr. and Mrs. Wylie, Verla Hartman, Rick Oxley, Sherry Rambacher, John Minarcik, Rick Kerr, Diane Bennett, Mrs. Walter J. Holmes and Earlin Yeager.

Door prizes were awarded to John Wolford, Joseph Doyle, Frank J. Marino, Mrs. Howard Gillett, Stuart B. Umstead, Leroy Foust Jr., Larry Hoffman, Ray Zepernick, Shirley Case, Betty Moon, Karen Miller, Joseph Panzotti, Ray Abrams and Clinton Price.

The Deming Foreman's Club and the Deming Girls Club were in charge of arrangements for the event. John G. Kehrer Jr., John Alesi, Dorothy Hileman, Brenda Ruggles, James E. Baxter and Mrs. Howard Gillett comprised the committee for registration. Contests and games were in charge of Eugene F. Hively, Jack Bertolotto, Vernon Weingart, Clifford Ayers, Paul Hill Jr., John Williams, Karen Miller, Sharlene Lyons, Carl Abe and G. W. Heddeson.

Approximately 1,500 attended the annual family picnic of the Deming Division, Crane Company, Saturday at Geauga Lake Park.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lott of the Goshen Rd. for several days have been his nieces, Mrs. Freda Guinn, Mrs. Irene Eaton and Mrs. Stella Lott, all of Parkersburg, W. Va.

J. Everett Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford of Shady Lane, has accepted a position with the Reflectone Electronics Corp. at Stamford, Conn. He and Mrs. Crawford and their two children are residing at 674 Rock Rimmon Road, Stamford.

Mrs. E. M. Liles and son John, of Anaheim, Calif., who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Juergens of N. Broadway, left Wednesday for Cheshire, Conn., where they will visit Mrs. Liles' sister, Mrs. Frances Pettay. Mrs. H. C. Kniseley of Seattle, Wash., who has been visiting in Salem, accompanied Mrs. Liles to Connecticut.

Following the dinner dancing to the music of the Eldon Kropp Band of Canton was enjoyed.

Jon Zeigler was the chairman in charge of arrangements. Other committee chairmen were: Secretary, Mrs. Robert Zimmerman; assistant secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Ehrhart; decorations, Mrs. Paul Harrington; catering, Edward Hart, photography, Nelson Mellinger; programs, Miss Sally Scullion, and music, Paul Hannay. They were assisted by Mrs. Bill Crookston, Mrs. Tony Colian, Mrs. Walter Woods, Mrs. Robert Hickey, Mrs. Glenn Smith, Mrs. Richard Garlock, Mrs. Robert Finch, Mrs. Robert Hill, Mrs. Ernest Rutzy and Mrs. Edward Votaw.

Paul Hannay was master of ceremonies and introduced each class member who in turn presented their husband or wife and told of their life since graduation. Prizes were presented to Mrs. George Phillis for the most children, five; Joseph Potts of Coon Rapids, Minn., who came the farthest to attend; Wendall Hamilton, the least hair, and Mrs. Donald Brudery as the most recently married.

Official and citizens of the counties in northeast Ohio, and Lawrence and Mercer Counties in Pennsylvania, are invited to attend.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR HELOISE: When serving colorless or white foods, try adding a few drops of food coloring — one at a time until the desired color is reached. For years, I have received compliments when serving these pale foods—such as mashed potatoes—simply because they had color appeal and a richer look.

I use food coloring in macaroni or potatoes au gratin, puddings, sauces, custard, giblet gravy, corn bread dressing, mayonnaise for salads, scrambled eggs, rice, pudding and potato salads.

ARIES.

Dear Aries: For years I have put yellow food coloring in mashed potatoes and rice, and green food coloring in green beans and peas, but I have never thought of using it for all these things. You're wonderful HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For quite awhile when I came to the end-slices of a loaf of bread... I have put them in a plastic bag and into the freezer to make bread crumbs whenever they were needed.

Yesterday, a recipe I was using called for some soft bread crumbs so instead of thawing the bread and breaking it up later, I took two frozen slices and grated them on my grater!

This produces an even texture and by the time it is grated, the crumbs are completely thawed! I grate two slices at a time.

MRS. CARL GRIFFITH.

DEAR HELOISE: When vacuuming a velvet chair the other day, my eye caught my suede shoes. I cleaned them more speedily with my vacuum than when I use a suede brush) and did all of my bags, hats and shoes... and even dusted an entire nine-drawer dresser that I had started to clean out earlier.

NANCY CURTIS.

DEAR HELOISE: Never toss tea leaves out. Add water to them and pour on houseplants. This is great for the plants... especially ferns.

GAIL COOK.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep a list of all items used when we go on camping trips in our packing gear. I check through this list just before getting into the car. I decided to do this after the gas lantern was left at home one time.

Many times we have gone on camping trips and left the salt! And just what are you going to do without salt?

A CAMPER.

Engagement Told

Miss Frieda Chellis

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Frieda Chellis, daughter of Mrs. Orville C. Chellis of RD 2, Leetonia, and the late Mr. Chellis, to Raymond Chamberlain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Chamberlain of RD 2, Leetonia.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Crestview High School, is employed by the National Rubber Machinery Co. Her fiancé, a graduate of Fairfield - Waterford School, is employed at Theron's Country Store near Columbiana. A 1964 wedding is being planned.

Small Decisions

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk comments of a pavement Plato: Life's biggest problem is making small decisions. It isn't by gulps but by gnat bites that most of us are finally destroyed.

The great questions of existence are pretty well beyond our individual control.

Since the vast decisions of civilization are out of our reach, why isn't everyone cheerfully fatalistic? It is because of those nagging little decisions still left us. They wear us down and out in time.

None is really important in itself, but they all add up to uclers and tranquilizers.

Take an ordinary man waking up on an ordinary day. He has to decide:

"Can I get one more shave out of this blade, or must I put in a new one?"

"I can't find the toothpaste. If I don't brush my teeth, will they fall out before nightfall?"

"What causes that brown taste this morning? Too much soda in the scotch? Should I switch to filter cigarettes?"

"Where's that other shoe? Oh, there you are. Now, which shoe shall I put on first?"

"Why did I put on socks this color? What tie have I got that'll match them?"

"I'm so sick and tired of eating noisy cereals for breakfast. But if I ask my wife to fix me a silent cereal, is it worth the fight? And what'll she say when I ask her for an extra buck for lunch?"

"Gee, I'm late. Shall I grab a cab or wait for the bus? Okay, I'll take the cab. Can I get away with a dime tip—or might I need him again sometime?"

Our hero arrives at work already wearing of decisions. But during the day he must also decide—

Whether he can safely postpone until tomorrow some problem that didn't fade away yesterday.

When to laugh as the boss tells a joke, when the boss himself never knows for sure that he reached the punch line.

Whether the vitamin capsule he forgot to swallow at lunch will do him any good if he swallows it half an hour later.

Whether he can safely sneak out 10 minutes early to be sure of getting a bus seat on the long voyage home.

He creeps feebly across this threshold only to confront more tense decisions:

If he picks up the cat by the scruff of her neck and throws her out of his favorite armchair, will she turn him to the ASPCA?

Will his children become juvenile delinquents in revenge if he insists on tuning the television set to the program he wants instead of the program they want?

Decisions, decisions, decisions—all day long, every day. Enough to crack a fellow's mind. As he turns restlessly in bed, he wonders if he'd sleep better if he used a smaller pillow. Or should he get up and take a pill? Oops—there's another decision.

Request To Quash Indictments Denied

LISBON — A Pittsburgh area man's request Wednesday that Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard quash his indictments for burglary and theft of narcotics, on grounds that his trial had not been held within three terms of court, was refused.

John Ciesielski, 30, was indicted by the June, 1960, grand jury for the burglary and theft of narcotics at Peoples Drug Store in East Liverpool May, 1960. During the time he was out on bond, he was arrested in Pennsylvania and was sentenced to a federal penitentiary.

In refusing his appeal, the court said he was confined to a federal penitentiary and was not available for hearing.

The trial was set tentatively for next Tuesday but may not be heard as his attorney is not expected to be available at that time.

Mishaps

the car in front of him, driven by Donald C. Kemaf, 25, of Salineville made a turn into a parking area, causing Gause's car to strike his auto in the rear.

Kemaf was cited for failure to signal a turn. There were no injuries.

In the only other area mishap Wednesday, George Alton, 36, of East Liverpool was cited for failure to signal to pass after he was involved in a two-car accident on Rt. 267 near Glenmoor.

The patrol said Alton, traveling north at 3:45 p.m., started to pass a vehicle driven by Dale Mays, 27, also of East Liverpool, just as it was turning left into a private drive, striking it in the left rear.

Nixon

subversion offensive, Nixon said. "I know it is very easy to be a Monday morning quarterback, but I can point to two failures by both administrations to take action over Communist moves—the Hungarian revolt and the building of the Berlin Wall," Nixon said.

In referring to Hungary he said he realized he was criticizing an administration of which he was a member.

Nixon twice visited East Berlin Wednesday. He made an unheralded visit Wednesday night and told a reporter he found that "Communism is a complete failure in East Berlin."

The Granges

Mt. Nebo Program Held

A colored film, "The Time of Our Lives," was shown at the meeting of Mt. Nebo Grange Wednesday evening.

George VanFossan gave a talk on rabies, and Mrs. Guy Frantz, lecturer, reported on current attempts to outlaw hay rides on roads in Ohio.

Warren Aiken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Aiken, was a guest and gave a talk on exercises.

The charter was draped in memory of Ivan Harrold, Leetonia RD 1, who died Wednesday at 5 p.m.

Announcement was made of the Columbiana County Grange youth meeting to be held at 8 this evening at Mile Branch Grange.

Women of the grange reported on the lunch they served Wednesday at the Paul Davis Sale, northwest of Lisbon.

The grange's next meeting will be Aug. 14 at 8:30 p.m.

ENCHANTED FOREST INHABITANTS — Lorry Lorch, 4, lives in the Enchanted Forest of Allison Park, Pa., with her three friends—Charlie, the parakeet; Daniel, the spaniel, and Kitty, the cat. They are amiable playmates, but note please that to avert an unhappy end to the idyll, Charlie, the parakeet, keeps as much distance as possible between him and Kitty, the cat.

Deaths Funerals

Earle McElhenie

Word has been received of the death of Earle McElhenie, 68, of Akron who died at noon yesterday at Akron General Hospital of complications.

Survivors include his wife, Constance, two daughters, Miss Mary McElhenie and Mrs. James Warrington of Toledo, formerly of Wilona, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Saturday at the Billows Funeral Home in Akron.

Ivan R. Harrold

FRANKLIN SQUARE — Ivan R. Harrold, 64, of Lisbon Rd., well-known Franklin Square citizen, died of complications at 5 p.m. Wednesday at his home following a lingering illness.

Born Dec. 25, 1898, in Columbiana, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Harrold. On Dec. 25, 1919, he married Bertha Viola Wilson, who survives. A machinist at the E. W. Bliss Company in Salem for 15 years, he was a member of St. Jacob's United Church of Christ near Lisbon, the Brotherhood of the Church, Mt. Nebo Grange and Lisbon Ruritan Club.

Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Betty Lee Rhodes of Westville Lake and Miss Audrey Mae Harrold at home; one sister, Mrs. Hazel Dunderly of Columbiana, and three grandchildren. One sister preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at the home with Rev. William Ring of St. Jacob's Church officiating. Burial will be at St. Jacob's Church Cemetery.

Friends may call at the home Friday afternoon and evening.

Dwight Gallatin

MINERVA — Dwight S. Gallatin, 80, of 608 S. Market Ave., Canton, was pronounced dead on arrival Wednesday morning at Timken Mercy Hospital in Canton following a heart attack at his home.

Born April 15, 1883, in Minerva, he was the son of George and Ellen Hart Gallatin. He was a member of the First Christian Church and for many years was a salesman for the D. S. Gallatin Brokerage Co. in Pittsburgh where he lived until moving to Canton six months ago.

Surviving is one brother, Jay D. Gallatin of Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 a.m. Friday at the Gotschall-Hutchison Funeral Home in Minerva with Rev. Earl Justice officiating. Interment will be in East Lawn Cemetery in Minerva. There will be no calling hours.

Lisbon Kiwanians

Serve 600 Dinners

LISBON — Over 600 chicken barbecue dinners were served Wednesday by the Kiwanis Club at its annual barbecue held at the Methodist Church, according to Dale Mason, general chairman.

Most of the Kiwanis Club members worked during the noon or evening meals, and the club did not hold its regular meeting at noon today. However, members will be allowed to take credit for a meeting attended if they worked.

The club's next meeting will be Aug. 1, Mason said.

ANSWER FIRE CALLS

City firemen answered two calls on Wednesday.

At 5:14 p.m. firemen were summoned to 145 S. Lundy Ave. where a car owned by Betty Krebs of 448 S. Madison Ave. received minor damage when the motor backfired through the carburetor.

At 8:40 p.m. a short in a television set owned by Daniel Miller of 1446 E. State St. filled the house with smoke. There was no damage.

BITTEN BY DOG

Mrs. Nancy Lucas, 26, of 1951 Fairview Court reported to city police that she was bitten by a dog owned by Edwin Pease of 1915 Fairview Court at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday. She was treated at Salem City Hospital.

CITY HALL IMPROVEMENT — Work is continuing on the repair work at City Hall, which includes the rebuilding of four corners of the building and the repointing of the masonry. The Council-authorized work is being done by the Joseph J. Garcano Co. of Pittsburgh at a cost of $4,400. No completion date has been set for the work.

With The Patients

Cynthia Jean Heim, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Heim of 1849 E. 3rd St., who suffered possible back injuries when struck by a diver from the high board while swimming at the Centennial Park Pool at 12:25 p.m. Wednesday, is in fairly good condition in Salem City Hospital.

Donald Yennie Jr., 4-year-old son of Donald Yennie of RD 1, Homeworth, is in fairly good condition in Alliance City Hospital where he was admitted at 7 p.m. Wednesday for observation of injuries suffered when a car drifted and hit him.

William Brodzinski, 42, of RD 2, Salem, was treated and released at 10:40 p.m. Tuesday for fractured ribs suffered when he fell in a truck.

Miss Jayne Lippiatt, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Lippiatt of E. 6th St., is in satisfactory condition following surgery at Akron General Hospital.

maneuvers, but it will be even more so next year because of the 1964 presidential election. The conference will be held just about a month before the national non-inating conventions.

Rhodes said he told the executive committee that Cleveland was "the best location in the nation for the conference," and that it has "everything necessary for a superior one."

He cited the city's hotels, ballrooms, restaurants, urban renewal program, new underground exhibition hall, Lake Erie, industry, climate and cultural and educational attractions.

Rhodes also said Ohio had made the most concerted drive of any state to get the 1964 conference.

Salesman Without City Permit Arrested

Nick Richard Boldi, 28, of Canton was fined $50 and costs Wednesday by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer when he pleaded "no contest" to a charge of soliciting without a permit.

Boldi was arrested at 3:45 p.m. Wednesday by city police. He is employed by the Golden Harvest Distributors Corp. of Louisville.

Lloyd G. Hasson, 20, of North Salem, Pa., forfeited a $15 bond when he was arrested by the state patrol at 5 a.m. today for a defective muffler on his car.

pact between the Western and Communist alliances also would improve the international climate, but he did not say a nonaggression pact was a Soviet condition for agreeing to the test ban.

Offers Africa Guarantee

Khrushchev also offered Africa a guarantee not to use nuclear weapons there if World War III broke out, provided the Western powers would make the same pledge.

The treaty, if it follows a Western draft presented before the 17-nation disarmament committee in Geneva a year ago, bans testing in the air, under water and in outer space by the signatory powers. The signers also are pledged not to aid in spreading nuclear weapons to other countries.

It has a safety valve permitting any nation to withdraw in 60 days notice if it suspects that one of the countries has violated the treaty, or that some other nation has detonated a nuclear device under circumstances impairing the security of any signer.

The treaty does not include underground testing because of the failure of the Western nations and the Soviets to agree on safeguards to detect violations.

Bill

Griffin said he will offer his version on the House floor if the bill gets there.

The normal legislative route through the House Rules Committee is considered blocked and plans now being made involve bringing the bill up on what is known as calendar Wednesday. This is an emergency procedure under which committee chairmen can call up any of their bills blocked in the Rules Committee. It is rarely used because action taken under it must be concluded in one day and numerous opportunities for delay and obstruction are available to opponents.

Births

Administration support for the legislation has been lukewarm.

President Kennedy endorsed it in his civil rights message to Congress last month, but did not include it in his legislative package.

On the Senate side of the Capitol, Undersecretary of Labor John F. Henning urged a labor subcommittee Wednesday to act speedily on legislation to prevent employers and unions alike from discriminating against Negroes in employment.

Columbiana Social Notes

Mrs. Donald Longshore welcomed members and guests of the Columbiana Democratic Men's Club and Women's Club in the absence of Mrs. Don Gosney, president of the group, at a coverd picnic Monday at Firestone Park. Mrs. Robert Exten gave the invocation. Games for children and adults were conducted by Mrs. Ruth Wining and Mrs. Evelyn Stacey. Mr. and Mrs. Gosney of W. Park St. are vacationing at Miami Beach, Fla. Work is progressing on the bleachers purchased by the Booster Club, Norman Bauman, Jr., president of the organization, announced.

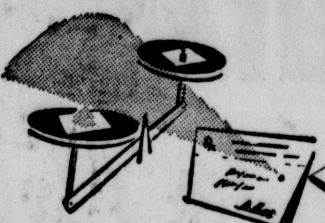

A work day has been scheduled for 9 a.m. Saturday. Persons participating are asked to meet at the parking lot east of the football field.

THEFT IS REPORTED

The Deepening Crisis

Churches Switch From Talk To Action In Racial Strife

EDITOR'S NOTE—Despite official pronouncements in favor of integration, racial bars persist widely at the church door in America. But a new militancy on the issue is apparent this turbulent summer as individual churches face the problem. Third in a special series of articles by The Associated Press on racial crisis.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

Associated Press Religion Writer

The picture in the Sunday School lesson showed a group of babies in a clinic, two of them Negroes. Another picture showed three children at play, one a Negro.

The story discussion said: "God loves white children yellow children, brown children. Dorothy's hands are very pale. Her hair is golden. Ben's hands are brown. His eyes are black. Do you think God loves Dorothy better because her hands are white? No, indeed not — it would be sad indeed if we all looked alike." Stress Equal Worth Most American religious bodies, in their official pronouncements and educational materials, have long stressed the equal worth of all human beings, whatever their color—that all were created by God and precious to Him.

At the same time, however, the churches have often been described as the most racially segregated major institutions in the nation's life.

"The shame of Sunday morning" goes an oft-used phrase of self-reproach in church circles. And another: "The most segregated hour of the week is at 11 a.m. on Sunday."

Since church congregations harbor intimate personal relationships among whole families — adults, youths and children — it has been maintained that once Negro and white mingle fully there, racial barriers will collapse elsewhere.

Becomes Testing Ground

In that sense, the local church becomes a testing ground — a point of decision — for the whole community pattern.

Churches have long been rallying points for pro-integration activity in many instances, and some Southern ministers have been roughed up for their parts in it.

On the other hand, the churches themselves in their local compositions have remained predominantly one-color units, even though the number of integrated parishes has been increasing rapidly of late.

This is the lump in the throat of the churches—the acknowledged gap between their official pleas, and their on-the-spot conditions.

With the racial crisis flaring and with Negroes demanding equity with new vehemence and immediacy, church strategy generally has undergone an extraordinary change in the last few months.

Switched To Action

It has switched from talk, to action. "It amounts to a new posture toward methodology," says the Rev. Dr. Alfred S. Kramer, a sociologist-clergyman consultant to the Racial and Cultural Relations Department of the National Council of Churches.

"After years of repentance and appeals for racial reconciliation, the churches have now begun a course of social intervention at the first level."

This means official backing for direct action challenging segregation on the local scene.

As expressed by the national council, which includes 33 Protestant and Orthodox denominations with 40 million members, the method calls for personal "involvement in every phase of the struggle for justice including negotiations and demonstration." New Commission Formed

A new inter-denominational "Commission on Religion and Race" was formed in June to implement the task.

Steps were under way to form local arms in communities in all regions to check congregational practices, to support and join in demonstrations, to press for civil rights legislation, and to organize "corps of prison chaplains" to discourage police mistreatment of demonstrators.

"There's a job to be done in every city and every village in America," said the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, vice chairman of the commission, and chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Blake and Bishop Daniel Corrigan of the Episcopal Church were arrested July 4 in a Baltimore integration demonstration.

The new punch in the church stand has showed up in many ways. The United Church of Christ (a merger including Congregationalists) at its general synod in Denver this summer shaped a potent financial weapon.

It moved to make loans for new church construction contingent on non-discrimination in building work, and on a commitment to an interracial policy by congregational leaders.

United Presbyterians have adopted a similar policy. The denomination this spring appropriated a half-million dollars to support direct-action programs for integration. The Disciples of Christ also made a special allocation for this purpose.

Roman Catholicism was a forerunner in integration action. In 1947, Joseph Cardinal Ritter, of St. Louis, desegregated parochial schools there, despite lay resistance.

Catholic Bishop Vincent S. Waters did the same in the diocese of Raleigh, N.C., in 1953, ahead of the court decision.

He got shoved about in the process, but stuck to his rule. "Segregation is a product of darkness and the time has come to end it," he said.

Much of the reinforced church activity was geared for an interfaith approach.

Received By Push

That aspect got its big push last January at the historic and unprecedented "National Conference on Religion and Race" in Chicago, the first time leading Protestant, Jewish and Roman Catholic bodies had joined in tackling the problem.

"Racism is our most serious domestic evil," the conference declared. "We must eradicate it with all diligence and speed."

Permanent machinery was set up for continuing interfaith operations, with a local network organized in Atlanta, Detroit, New Orleans, Miami, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, San Antonio, Little Rock, San Francisco and elsewhere.

Among the nation's Negroes, about 10 million belong to separate all-Negro Protestant denominations—Baptist and Methodist. About 500,000 are Roman Catholics and another 500,000 belong to predominantly white Protestant bodies, although they are chiefly in one-color congregations. Considerable Representation

At the national level, in most denominations, and in interdenominational bodies, Negroes have considerable representation. But the pattern rarely is reflected on the local scene—in the overwhelming white suburban congregations, and in de facto segregated city neighborhoods, North and South.

In its formal and official preachments, however, the church traditionally has pleaded for interracial brotherhood.

In many cases, groups of Southern pastors, in the midst of racial tension, have issued manifestos calling for equal treatment of the Negro. Some pastors have lost their posts as a result.

Among those Southern preachers who support segregation, some maintain that the idea of interracial mixing is Communist-inspired. Some also argue that the Bible teaches segregation.

"God created the races distinct from one another," declared a Southern fundamentalist group.

On the other hand, pro-integrationist ministers cite many Biblical passages in support of all men's equality before God, such as Acts 17:26, saying God "made of the blood of all nations," and Galatians 3:28, saying men are "all one in Christ Jesus," without divisions of race or status.

In any case, the racial bars have persisted widely at the church door.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Health Questions And Answers

Q—I feel tired and ache all over. My doctor said my blood pressure was very low. Is this serious?

A—Low blood pressure is hard to define because any level of pressure that is high enough to keep your blood circulating when you are up and about is not too low. Many of the best athletes have blood pressures far below the average.

No one ever died of chronic low blood pressure. (The sudden lowering of blood pressure known as shock is a different matter.) In fact, persons whose blood pressure is below average generally live longer than those who have higher blood pressures.

There is, however, a condition known as orthostatic low blood pressure in which a person who gets up too quickly from a prone position blacks out or feels very faint. When this happens one should sit down or lie down then get up slowly. This is frequently seen in persons who have been in bed several days because of an illness.

Most persons with low blood pressure require no treatment. But, if your doctor thinks your low blood pressure is causing your symptoms, he may want to give you angiotensin (formerly called angiotonin).

Q—Must the heart action have been stopped for an hour before a person can be officially pronounced dead?

A—This would depend on the circumstances. If a person had been ill for a long time and death was expected, a doctor would listen with his stethoscope to the patient's chest for signs of heart action and would also determine whether or not the patient were breathing. If there were no signs of breathing or heart action the patient could be pronounced dead at once.

On the other hand if a person has apparently drowned or been knocked unconscious by an electric current or a blow on the head and stops breathing, artificial respiration should be continued for at least an hour before the victim is pronounced dead.

Q—What is von Recklinghausen's disease? Is it curable?

A—Von Recklinghausen's disease is a hereditary condition in which spots of increased skin pigmentation are found, especially on the torso. The chief feature of the disease is the large number of tumors that appear to be in the skin but are really tumors of the nerve endings just beneath the skin. These may occur anywhere but are most abundant on the trunk. They are usually soft, vary in size, and, with rare exceptions, are painless. Although the condition is hereditary, the disease does not usually make its appearance until late in life.

The condition is really not a disease as it does not affect the general health.

There is no treatment except for removal of those tumors that become so large that they cause pressure or discomfort.

REJECT FIRM'S OFFER

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Members of two United Steelworkers locals on strike against the Dayton Steel Foundry have rejected a company contract offer.

The proposed contract went to the membership—more than 1,000 workers are out — with no recommendation from their union committees that the strike now becomes virtually a month old.

Twins Home Run Power Dumps Hapless Indians Twice

Slumping Tribe Drops 11 of Last 12 Starts

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Our boys are just in a slump, period." That's Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts' explanation for the plight of his hapless Indians, who have lost 11 of 12 games and were shut out 9-0 and 5-0 by the homer-happy Minnesota Twins Wednesday night.

Southpaw Dick Stigman, a former Indian, and Jim Kaat applied the whitewash brushes. Stigman hurled a seven-hitter and struck out nine, while Kaat beat Cleveland for the fourth time this season by holding the Tribe to six hits and fanning eleven.

The first game was a rout from the first inning when Rich Rollins, the Cleveland boy who attended Kent State University, and streak-hitting Don Mincher walloped home runs off Pedro Ramos.

John Goryl hit a two-run homer in the fifth and then knocked in two more runs in the sixth with a bases-loaded single. The Twins added two more on Mincher's second homer, a two-run shot, in the seventh and settled for a lone run in the eighth.

The second contest of the twin-night doubleheader was a dandy scoreless pitching duel between Kaat and Cleveland's Dick Donovan until the ninth inning. Until then, the Twins had collected only three hits off Donovan, two of them coming in the eighth. Dick also struck out nine.

But with two out, Jimmie Hall belted a 400-foot homer over the right field fence in the ninth. Minnesota then woke up as Donovan came apart. A double by Bob Allison, a single by Goryl, a wild throw by shortstop Larry Brown and Kaat's three-run homer completed the scoring.

The Twins have slugged Cleveland pitching for 30 homers in 12 games, winning nine of them. Six homers were hit Wednesday night.

"I've got confidence in my guys," Tebbetts said after the disappointing double setback. "We'll just have to relax."

Tebbetts could offer no good reason for the Indians' large amount of strikeouts in the past three games—an average of more than 10 a game.

"They're just not hitting the way they're going to hit," the manager said. "When you're in a slump you swing and miss, and take good pitches. At least our boys are swinging."

The Indians play a rare mid-week game in the afternoon today when Barry Latman (5-6) goes to the mound for Cleveland against ex-Tribe hurler Jim Perry (8-6) of Minnesota.

Ford Chalks Up 12th Straight As Yankees Post 8-4 Victory

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
"The catchers are carrying this ball club," said Yankee catcher Elston Howard.

"We've got the best infield in baseball," said Ralph Houk, Yankee manager.

"New York's got that great over all power," said Johnny Pesky, Red Sox manager.

"They've come up with a couple of fine young pitchers in Al Downing and Jim Bouon," said Bill Rigney, Los Angeles manager.

So maybe they've all forgotten Whitey Ford? At least no one seems to be talking about him. Ah, well, maybe there's no reason to. He's just won 12 in a row, 16 in all, and, as usual, is shouldering the burden of the important pitching chores as the Yankees go bombing along toward another pennant.

The 34-year-old left-hander was no more excited than a businessman is walking to the office Wednesday as he turned in a workman-like 8-4 victory over the Los Angeles Angels, the Yankees' sixth straight. He allowed only six hits and struck out eight before giving way to a pinch hitter after seven innings.

Minnesota's Twins got good pitching performances from Dick Stigman and Jim Kaat in a double blanking of Cleveland, 9-0 and 5-0; Kansas City swept two from Boston, 5-2 and 7-6; Baltimore overcame a four-run deficit and beat Washington 8-5, and Chicago defeated Detroit 3-1.

Ford's victory put him in a tie with the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax and the Giants' Juan Marichal as the majors' top winner of the season. And he extended his own mark as the most consistent winner in the history of the game among pitchers who have won 100 or more. His lifetime mark of 191-74 for a percentage of .721 leads the all-time list. Spud Chandler is next at 109-43, .717.

John Blanchard, a converted catcher pressed into service in the Yankees' injury-riddled outfield, once again provided the big hitting. He drove in four runs on a homer and two singles and scored twice.

Minnesota's Stigman was supported by an 11-hit attack that included two homers by Don Mincher and four-baggers by Rich Rollins and Johnny Goryl in the first game victory.

Jim Hall's ninth-inning homer broke a scoreless duel in the nightcap and Kaat put it out of each with a three-run blast.

He struck out 11 and allowed only six hits.

135 Golfers Tee Off Today In $50,000 Western Open

CHICAGO (AP) — The player who can spot his tee shots consistently and putt like a demon should win the $50,000 Western Open.

The second oldest golf tournament in the nation opened a 60th chapter today with a field of 135 of the game's best starting the 72-hole medal test. It ends Sunday with the winner pocketing $10,000.

The Beverly Country Club course, scene of nine major tournaments in the past, is deceptive with its tight trappings, trees and numerous out-of-bounds. Big hitters like Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, Masters' and newly crowned PGA champion, may leave their drivers in their bags most of the time.

In addition to them, the field includes defending champion Jack Cupit, National Open titlist Julius Boros, and British Open winner Bob Charles of New Zealand, the southpaw splinter.

None of them, however, may step into the winner's circle. The title could go to some lesser light among the 41 of the 50 top money winners entered.

Don Fairfield, for instance, conquered the 6,867-yard, par 36-55-71 layout with a course record-matching 65 in Tuesday's Pro-Am affair.

Oldest in the field is Chick Evans, 73, who won the Western Open at Beverly in 1910, becoming the only amateur ever to do so.

After the first 36 holes, the field will be cut to the low 75 and ties. Another cut will come after 54 holes Saturday to the low 60 and ties.

The Western Open is unique in its goal. Proceeds go to furthering the world-famous Evans Scholars Foundation, which provides funds for college educations of deserving caddies.

Old Dutch Routs Merchants 18-1 In County Tournament

Fifteen batters went to the plate in the first inning to give Old Dutch an 11-0 bulge, and the defending champs went on to rout the Salem Merchants 18-1 in the Columbiana County Softball Tournament at Kelley Field last night.

Stepanic's rallied for five runs in the sixth inning to trim Lisbon VFW 7-5, and East Liverpool Amvets knocked off Conser Construction 10-2 with a nine-run sixth inning.

Salem Moose 571 takes on Old Dutch at 6:30; Parker Chevrolet goes against East Liverpool Gallagher Market at 7:45 and Conser Construction battles Fernengel's at 9 in county action tonight.

Tripled by Bill Ferguson and Jim Barnes led the first-inning attack for Old Dutch. Roger Stille hit a home run for the winners in the sixth.

Nine of the winners' 15 hits

Don Clarico, Salem's grid mentor, will journey this weekend to Canton where he will serve as an assistant for the annual All-Star Football Classic to be held at Fawcett Stadium Aug. 9.

Both the north and south aggregations will begin drills for the contest Monday.

Bron Bacevich of Cincinnati Roger Bacon will guide the Rebels. Clarico is a member of his coaching staff.

Gaylord "Hap" Lillick, Louisville's pilot, and Warren St. Mary's George Landis are area representatives who will assist Tom McHugh of Toledo Central Catholic.

Local athletes slated for action on the North squad are Larry Grimes of Alliance, at fullback; Warren's All-Ohio guard, Gary Windle; Bo Rein, Niles' versatile halfback. Youngstown players who will participate include John Horney, Cardinal Mooney end Bob Romito, Woodrow Wilson tackle, and Joe Mogulich, Mooney fullback.

The Yankees hold an 8-7 edge in the series, while two other contests ended in ties. The North has compiled 263 points, compared to 188 for the South. The Rebels have posted 12-6 and 146 victories the past two years.

Reserve seats for the game are on sale at Fishers News Agency at $2 apiece.

SOME 60 TO 70 Salem High football candidates will be checked by the city's dentists for mouth pieces at Senior High School next Monday at 7 p.m.

Coach Clarico pointed out if there are any boys who would like to try out for this year's squad, they should contact him as soon as possible.

MRS. ROBERT TALBOT of 748 Newgarden Ave. has a grandson, Bob Mauro, 10, who is currently batting a tremendous .840 average for the Red Sox of the West Neptune Minor League at Asbury Park, N. J.

He is the son of the former Jean Bloor of Salem. The unit, undefeated in 10 starts, chalked up only two victories last year. It is managed by Bob's father Tom Mauro.

Bob's team is league champs. He plays catch when he is not pitching and has a 4-0 record as a hurler.

NATALIE MILLER of Youngstown has posted a 41 for the women's top low gross score of the season at Copeland Hills. She also holds the record for the course, a 39, which she chalked up last year.

John Herman Jr., president of the Salem Junior Baseball League, reports that nearly 5,000 fans attended the Hot Stove League Tournament action last week.

He figures, if the weather holds up, that the crowds will far surpass the record attendance figure that watched the action here last year.

DAN KRICHBAUM, who is one of the top scholars at Wooster College, majoring in sociology, will captain the 1963-64 Scotts basketball team.

He is one of six athletic captains returning this season on the college dean's list, who earned places on the honor roll at the completion of the 1962 school year.

Another boy who made the list and graduated in June, was Art Herriott of East Palestine who captained the Scotts track squad.

AT PRESENT time, Miami University alumni are well represented in the football coaching profession. Forty-two of the university's ex-stars are holding positions, either as head coaches or assistants, at 20 colleges and universities across the United States.

Football will apparently be covered thoroughly by the five panelists at the Miami coaches clinic Friday and Saturday if the topics announced by the coaches are any indication.

From an offensive standpoint, Northwestern's Ara Parseghian, former Miami star and coach, will cover the broad topic "offense," a favorite subject of his throughout his career and certain last year as the Wildcats ranked fifth nationally in total offense.

YALE COACH John Pont, all-time great offensive halfback for Miami and the Redskins' coach the past seven years, will discuss the "outside belly series," a system which proved highly effective for Miami last year as the Redskins averaged 22 points per game.

Miami's new head coach, Bo Schembechler, a former Miami tackle, will call on his experience as a player and line assistant to discuss "interior line blocking," a phase of play the Miami mentor feels essential for offensive effectiveness.

Defensively, Army's Paul Dietzel and Hugh Hindman, assistant coach at Ohio State, will be the speakers. Dietzel, former Miami center who has made famous his defense-minded "Chinese Bandits," will cover the broad topic "Defense," while Hindman, former Miami guard, will speak on both offense and defense with the topic "Pass Defense and Pass Protection."

Cherry Hill, Moose Lodge Also Triumph

Elks, Petrucci's, UCT Post
Victories In Junior Leagues

A big five-run fourth inning was all the Elks needed to knock off Farmers Bank in a Class F contest at Memorial North Wednesday.

UCT went extra innings to trim the Eagles 6-4 at Memorial West and Petrucci's blanked National Dry Cleaners 7-0 at Centennial South in Class G.

Cherry Hill picked up its second win of the season with a 15-13 triumph over the Jaycees at Reilly Field, and Moose Lodge beat CI 1338 12-6 in Class H.

John Paul Tolson came through with a three-hit pitching performance. He struck out 13 and walked eight.

The Elks ballooned a 2-1 lead to 7-1 with the five-run rally. Tom Bica's triple and a double by Scott Thompson featured the big inning.

Bica collected three hits and George Christofaris, Thompson, Ellsworth Bowser and Ray McNutt each had two for the winners.

John Bricker had a pair of singles and Drakulich had a hit for the losers.

UCT picked up two runs in the bottom of the ninth after two men were out. Jay Youtz, Todd Howard and John Shivers hit successive singles to spark the rally.

Jim Ciotti and Jim King led UCT with two hits apiece. Kent Smith had a double and two singles for the losers.

Petrucci's took a 4-0 lead in the initial inning on two singles, doubles by Scott Cramer and winning pitcher Scott Cody and a home run by Mark Equizzi.

Wally Simpson singled twice and Jack Shoff got a bingle for the only hits off Cody, who struck out 16 and walked three.

Cody fanned at least two batters every inning, and whiffed the side in the second and third frames. Cramer led the winners with two doubles and a single.

Cherry Hill, after taking an early 12-3 lead, had to rally in the fifth for the decision. The winners picked up two markers on three walks and a hit batter.

Frank Detuchon paced Cherry Hill with two hits. The winners took advantage of 20 walks to score 11 of their 15 markers.

John Primm and Mike Cosgrove paced the Jaycees with two hits apiece.

Moose Lodge rallied for six runs in the sixth, with a home run by Jeff Krebs and a triple by Charles Baker featuring the attack.

Ed McQuiston doubled, and Dan Chamberlain and Ron Hrvatin collected singles for the losers' only hits.

Bartholomew Gets Ace
At Robbyn's Field Day

Bill Bartholomew, a member of the Salem Music Centre squad, made a hole-in-one during the annual midseason field day at Robbyn's Knoll recently.

He made his ace on the 150-yard No. 2 hole, using a five iron. Bartholomew finished with a 43 on the par 36 course.

A total of 200 golfers competed in the event, with prizes being awarded to Bill Ehrhart, longest drive; Duck DeJone, longest putt; Ralph Knipper, low gross of 73; Larry LaGrosse, low net of 65; Connie Finch, Charles Dimko and Bill Good received special prizes.

The leagues will hold their last field day of the season Sept. 14.

Salem Legion Squad
Posts Two Victories

The powerful Salem Legion baseball team pounded out a 12-3 victory over Leetonia at the losers' field Wednesday.

Manager John Herman's aggression also routed Columbiana 14-2 during its last outing.

Rich Sweitzer was the big gun against Leetonia. He led the Salem hitting attack with three triples. Marlin Waller chipped in with a home run and double and Ron Sabo connected for a pair of doubles. Hilt Moffett was the winning hurler.

Wayne Washington belted two triples in Salem's easy Columbiana victory. Dick Barrett had a double and two singles. Kendrick was the winning hurler.

Woman Cited After
Car-Cruiser Collision

LISBON — Alma D. Ready, 63, Lisbon RD 5, was cited following the collision of her car and a state patrol cruiser on Pritchard Ave., at the intersection of E. Lincoln Way, Wednesday evening at 7:30, police reported.

Mrs. Ready was traveling south on Pritchard Ave. and ran into the rear of the cruiser, driven by Ptl. Phillip Wenner, Leetonia RD 2, of the Lisbon barracks, which had stopped for a stop sign at E. Lincoln Way.

Damage was estimated at $25 to the rear of the patrol car and $50 to the front end of the Ready auto.

Mrs. Ready was cited for failure to stop within the assured clear distance.

BATTING—Ron Hansen, White Sox drove in all Chicago's runs with a home run and sacrifice fly in the White Sox 3-1 triumph over Detroit. It was the 12th time this season that he 217-hitting shortstop drove in the winning run.

PITCHING — Southpaw Dick Stigman and Jim Kaat, Twins, pitched back-to-back shutouts as Minnesota swept a two-night doubleheader from Cleveland 9-0 and 5-0.

WINS BATTLE WITH U.S.—Willie Gallacher, above, 81, grand old man of the British Communist Party, has won his fight with the U.S. State Department for permission to visit his ailing sister, Agnes Wilson, 75, in Chicago. He has promised to avoid politics during his three-week stay in the United States.

EYE STATE JC TITLE — Frank Guerrier of Leetonia (L) and Deon Good of Alliance (r.) will represent Salem area junior golfers in the state Jaycee Tournament at Sharon Hill Country Club in Norwood Monday and Tuesday. Good captured the local JC tourney at Salem Golf Club recently with a 39-39-78. Guerrier was runnerup with a 40-41-81. Dave Drakulich (standing), chairman of the Salem Jaycee project, will accompany the two athletes to the event.

12 Events Are Set For Saturday's Card

Canfield Slates Mid-Season
Title Race For Amateurs

A big 40-lap midseason championship for the amateurs will headline the regular 12-race stock car program at Canfield Speedway on Saturday night.

The late models also will be on hand with Jim Bickerstaff of Mineral Ridge, victor in the late model midseason championship race, and Bill Forney of Youngstown featured.

DeLong's Service of Struthers will be going all out for top honors in the amateur title duel. They presently have three cars and are working on a fourth. Gus DeLong and Paul Miller, along with Tom Stanislaw, a former Woodrow Wilson High griddler, do the riding. Chuck Daugherty of Poland has the third car, a 1960 Dodge late model.

The fourth car, when ready, will be driven full-time by Stanislaw. Cars driven by DeLong and Miller are 1951 Dodges and both of these drivers do exceptionally well.

Both have won features this year and they will be the drivers to watch on Saturday night. Miller is fourth in the amateur standings behind Bill Larson of Youngstown, Ken Suggitt of Salem and Jerry Kaminsky of Youngstown. DeLong is holding down 13th spot.

Miller is driving the car formerly piloted by Daugherty. The latter had to move up to the late model ranks early this year after winning his sixth amateur feature. Under MARC rules a driver automatically moves up after winning six races.

Some 100 cars will be on hand Saturday night, including the most outstanding drivers in the area.

Top Amateurs entered are Jim Metlicka, Frank Buccella, Lou Parker, Earl Tetters, Bill Vollier, Bud Comm, the three Simcox brothers, Art, John and Jim, Vince Carbone and many others.

Clark Impresses
Browns' Coaching
Staff Wednesday

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Monte Clark has taken over the right tackle spot on offense for the Cleveland Browns and protected the passer so well that the NFL club may give up on its attempt to lure Mike McCormack out of retirement.

Clark's performance was one of the highlights of Wednesday's workout as the Browns took on their first pass play. Others who did well were quarterback Jim Ninowski, fighting to regain his first-team job, and ends John Brewer and Gary Collins.

Clark, obtained during the off-season from Dallas for veteran guard Jim Ray Smith, had a hard contact workout against defensive end Paul Wiggins.

"Monte gave me a rough time in Dallas last winter, so I knew what to expect," said Wiggins.

Coach Blanton Collier was impressed with Clark's work in protecting the passer and enjoyed the work of Wiggins against him.

Cubs' Head Coach Kennedy Appears
Top Candidate For Manager Of Year

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Barring a complete disintegration of his forces, Bob Kennedy of the incredible Chicago Cubs appeared a certainty today to be voted 1963 National League manager of the year.

But hold on there. How can one bestow a managerial accolade upon a coach, even if he has been designated as head coach?

Cub owner Philip K. Wrigley, insists there is no manager on his club.

Kennedy, in his first year with the Cubs, is last on the list of 12 Chicago coaches appearing in the National League green book. But he is the acknowledged boss on the field. So much so that he's been there all year. In each of the past two years, the Cubs rotated their "head coaches", using at least three per season.

Regardless of his title, Kennedy has done a magnificent job. He has had the Cubs, a preseason pick to battle the Mets and Colts for eighth place, in pennant contention virtually from opening day.

Wednesday the third-place Cubs defeated Cincinnati 2-1 behind the four-hit pitching of southpaw Dick Ellsworth to advance to within a game of the second place St. Louis Cardinals who were beaten 8-1 by the Milwaukee Braves.

Nine games over .500, the Cubs are eight games in back of the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers who defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates for the seventh straight time, 5-1. San Francisco's fourth-place Giants eked out a 4-3 victory over the New York Mets and Philadelphia whipped Houston 6-3.

Ellsworth, a 20-game loser last year, outpitched Cincinnati's Bob Purkey for his 14th victory. He has lost seven. Trailing 1-0, the Cubs scored twice after two out in the seventh on back-to-back doubles by outfielders Lou Brock and Ellis Burton. Andre Rodgers had singled earlier in the inning.

Don Drysdale, who almost never loses in July, posted his fourth victory of the month as the Dodgers increased their first-place lead over the Cards to seven games. The big right-hander allowed five hits, struck out eight and walked one.

The Dodgers got a run in the third off loser Earl Francis and broke a 1-1 tie with a four-run rally in the fifth. They scored one run on a bases-loaded walk, two more on a single by Johnny Roseboro and another on a wild pitch.

Milwaukee southpaw Denny Lemaster spun a five-hitter against the Cards for his sixth season victory. Dennis Menke and Frank Bolling supported him with home runs.

Farm Work Mishaps

Injure 321,600 Each Year

Surveys show that many of these accidents on farm-lands and about farm buildings took the lives of young people who were not properly safeguarded by their parents and had not acquired safety instructions.

Foresight now will at least take the sting of financial burden away from these accidents that seem bound to happen!

This past year has shown a notable decline in farm accidents. This means sons, daughters and husbands are with their loved ones . . . it means stronger capable Americans doing the best job that has ever been done in the farming business . . . it means higher production which is a source of pride throughout the entire world.

Now is no time to relax and rest on our laurels . . . now IS the time to contemplate briefly a good job safely done and do it still more safely in this coming year.

Why This Mother Has Fewer Problems

Mrs. Brown has fewer problems than most mothers. At least, Don, her early teen-age son, is no worry. He has an outlet for his excess energy and a constructive use for his leisure time this summer. Don is a newspaperboy.

He has built a business of his own, and is now learning how to manage time and money, how to meet people, and how to accept the sort of responsibilities that will make him a real leader tomorrow. When fall comes, and he returns to school, he will be able to continue his practical business education as a worthwhile supplement to his classroom work.

To mothers (and fathers, too) who want their sons to build the broadest possible educational base for future success, we recommend a continuing, year-round newspaperboy business.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

Our private label milk in half gallon coated cartons is going like crazy. The customers like the milk. I talked to a lady who has been using milk for 15 years from the same dairy that puts ours up. She said she never got a bottle of anything but very good milk in all that time.

We are out to satisfy our customers in every way we can and this milk seems to be making us a lot of new friends.

FICTION

GAMAILIS AND OTHER TALE FROM STALIN'S RUSSIA by Vladimir Andreyev. Six short stories by a Russian who was once a colonel in the NKVD under Stalin and who has since taken refuge in Western Europe. The stories all bring out the misery of the common people and the cynicism of those in command.

TORTOISE BY CANDLELIGHT by Nina Bawden. An English family with a drunken father, a grandmother and mother who disagree violently and three children are the main characters in this story which is both funny and pathetic. It is a story not easily forgotten.

COME TO THE BOWER by J. Y. Bryan. With a background of Louisiana and Texas during the war with Mexico, this is the story of the romance of Perry Allen and the girl he loved, as well as the story of the hero's action in the war. It is a story of old-fashioned virtue so well told that it carries conviction with it.

THE SILENT TARN by Hannah Closs. The third and final story in Miss Closs's tale of the Albigenses struggle against the established church in the thirteenth century. The first was High are the Mountains, the second Deep are the Valleys. The story in its entirety is extremely well done.

THE WILD GRAPES by Barbara Jefferis. A lightweight tale of suspense about a family whose members all could be said to be odd and some of whom have died under suspicious circumstances.

THE AMAZING MRS. BONAPARTIE by Harnett Kane. A fictional biography of the young woman from Baltimore who fell in love with and married Napoleon's youngest brother. However Napoleon ordered his brother to return to France alone, and his young bride never saw him again except once by accident.

PRIZE STORIES FROM LATIN AMERICA. Eleven novellas which were judged the best from over three thousand submitted for a South American literary prize. All of these stories were written by people who earn their living in some other way than by writing. They reflect the life and thinking of the people of those rapidly-changing countries.

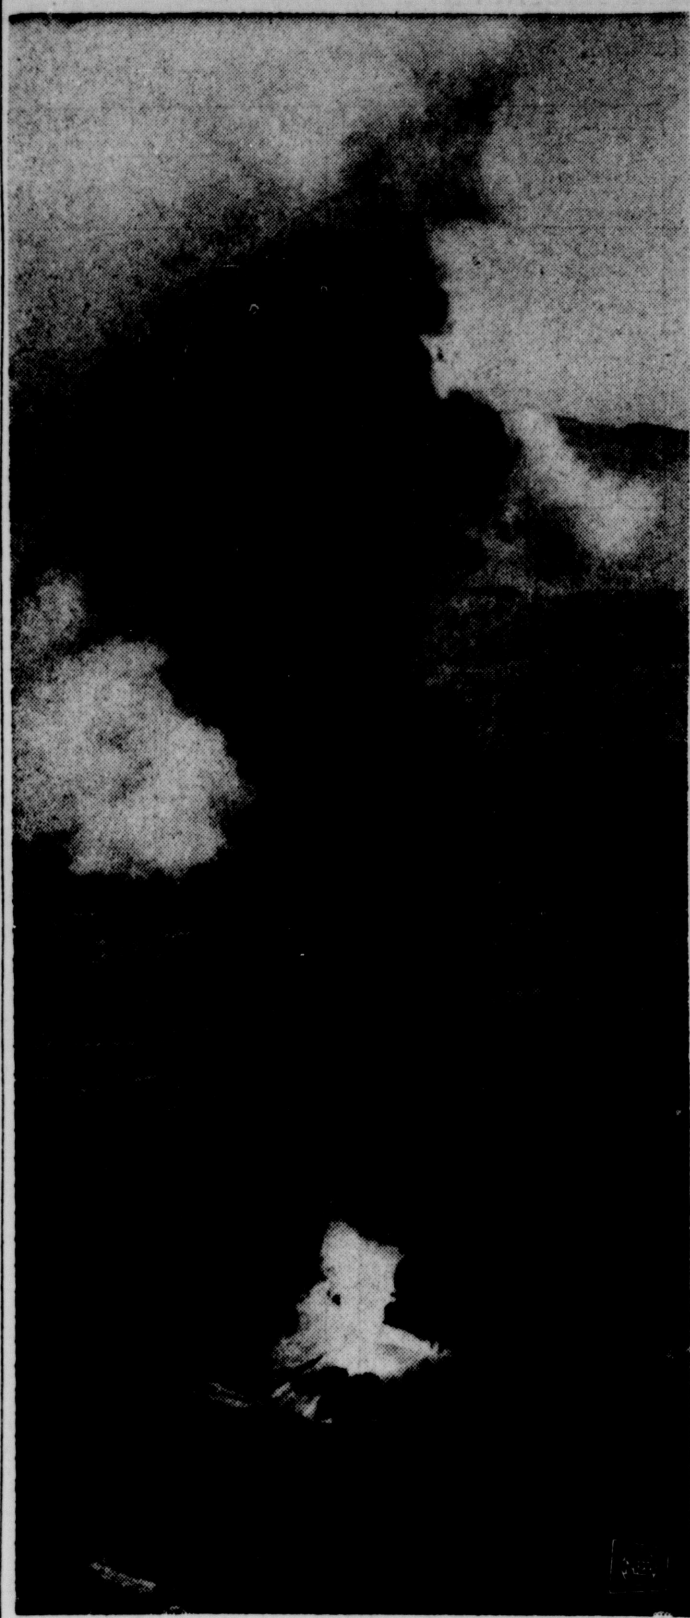

SWORD AT SUNSET by Rosemary Sutcliff. A new conception of the story of Arthur, with much less of glamour and much more of struggle to hold together the country after the departure of the Romans, and to hold back the inroads of the Saxons.

THE SHOES OF THE FISHERMAN by Morris L. West. This may be one of the outstanding novels of this season. For its theme is the election of a new Pope and the events of the first few months of his reign. It happens that he is a Russian, and this enlarges the picture a great deal. There is a great deal here for the thoughtful reader.

Science Fiction: THE BEAST by A. E. Van Vogt. The hero is transported to a secret colony in the interior of the moon - adventures afterward just as unusual.

NON-FICTION ALMOST WHITE by Brevton Berry. The story of the little-known groups of people of mixed racial background which have existed since the Revolutionary War, and about which very little is generally known.

BLACK LIKE ME by John Howard Griffin. The author, a white man, used drugs and light treatments to darken his skin sufficiently to pass for a Negro. Here he tells of his experiences—what it is like to be a Negro in this country. THE TRAITORS by Alan Moorehead. A new edition of an earlier study, this is a masterly study of the harm which one misguided person, especially if he happens to be a scientist, can do to the whole community which is opposed to the Communist world. It is only since the invention of the nuclear weapon that this has become possible.

MAN-MADE VOLCANO — Exhaust flames leap 200 feet into the sky, then turn into a swirling cloud above the landscape at Coyote, Calif., as the world's largest solid-fuel rocket motor is test fired. The motor, built by United Technology Center, was tested nose downward and developed a peak thrust of one million pounds. Though it is the same size as the Atlas (75 feet) which launched the Mercury astronauts, the new motor is 2½ times more powerful.

FOURTEEN AFRICANS VS ONE AMERICAN by Frederick Fox. Mr. Fox spent some time in Africa teaching writing to Africans—the fourteen of the title. This enjoyable little book tells about all of the students, much of it in their own words.

FIELD BOOK OF FRESH WATER FISHES OF NORTH AMERICA by Ray Schrenkeisen. A new edition of a very good guide which has been out of print for some time.

FELL'S COLLECTOR'S GUIDE TO AMERICAN ANTIQUE FIREARMS by Martin Rywell. This is a brief history of antique American guns told by category of the gun. The author tells when and where the gun was used most, quite a bit about its manufacture.

ers, who used the various types and why.

POOLSIDE LIVING by James Joseph. Everything you need to know about a pool for your home. The author tells you how to buy it, about how much it will cost, how to finance it, what you need for it besides water, how to build it yourself if you decide on that, basic safety rules, even how to play water games.

FELL'S TEEN AGE GUIDE TO

WINNING GOLF by M. Gillette Brown. The title tells about all you need to know—this was written especially for teen-agers.

RIDE AMERICAN by Louis Taylor. This is much more than a book about riding. It tells how to choose a horse, how to care for it, equipment you will need, what breeds are available and the characteristics of each and how to show your horse.

A HOME OF OUR OWN by

Gladys Ogden Dimock. The Dimocks decided they had to be free of the city, so they moved to a farm in Vermont which they already owned. It is a primitive farm to the person used to thinking of creature comforts such as central heating and the way Mrs. Dimock tells about it makes it sound like a very worth-while experience.

HERE TO STAY by John Hersey. Mr. Hersey believes that man is here to stay in spite of the atomic bomb and any other device some of his members may invent. He tells a group of fascinating true stories to prove his point.

THE DRY DIVIDE by Ralph Moody. Still another of the fine stories of the author's early life, begun in the well-loved Little Britches.
